

Revise pp.140(emphasis) and write these sentences as cleft sentences

- Barça played the semi-final against Chelsea last Tuesday, not Real Madrid.
-
- Another area of Syria has been attacked by the Syria army following a monitoring visit by UN observers.
-
- A Channel 4 News crew has been deported from Bahrain after they were arrested while covering the controversial Formula One grand prix.
-
- Egypt has cancelled a 20-year contract to supply Israel with natural gas in a move interpreted as a sign of increasingly fragile relations between the allies.
-
- French researchers say the use of ovarian stimulating drugs is associated with doubling the risk of a child developing leukemia.
-
- A virus had struck the computer and communication systems of Iran's main oil export facilities on Kharg Island.
-
- Scientists have glimpsed a white adult orca, or killer whale, while on a research expedition off the far eastern coast of Russia.
-
- The remains of a mighty Persian army said to have drowned in the sands of the western Egyptian desert 2,500 years ago might have been finally located.
-
- The large amounts of oil found in parts of the Sahara prove that the area was once inhabited by many plants and animals.
-
- For more than a decade, neuroscientists and physiologists have been gathering evidence of the beneficial relationship between exercise and brainpower.
-
- For more than a decade, neuroscientists and physiologists have been gathering evidence of the beneficial relationship between exercise and brainpower.